Full Height shutters provide additional privacy and security. The option to have a mid-rail or split louvres allows you to tilt some, rather than all, the louvres.

CAFÉ STYLE

Café Style shutters are ideal for windows where full privacy is not required. They cover the bottom half of a window, creating privacy at the lower level, whilst allowing light into the room through the top of the window. Café Style shutters enable natural light into the room and are especially ideal for sash windows.

TIER-ON-TIER

Tier - on - Tier shutters cover the whole of the window but feature top and bottom panels which open independently of each other. These popular shutters enable versatile control of light and privacy in the daily use of your shutters.

TRACKED SHUTTERS

Tracked Shutters simply slide on a track, providing easy access through patio, sliding or bifold doors.

This type of shutter is also ideal for very wide windows.

There are two types of Tracked Shutter:

Bifold – An even number of panels fold back

Bi-pass – Panels slide behind one another to create an opening

Tracked shutters can also be used as a stylish and versatile room divider.

SOLID SHUTTERS

Inspired by traditional Victorian window coverings, Solid Shutters offer optimal light block out and privacy. Providing a more time-honoured feel, solid panels are opened and closed to control light into the room. Available in Full Height, Café, Tier - on - Tier and Tracked styles.

Solid shutters are available in both Poplar and Paulownia hardwood shutter ranges.

SHUTTERS WITH BLINDS

Pleated and Cellular blinds are available in a choice of fabrics and colours and can be manually operated or motorised.

Natural living, with sustainable wood shutters

Paulownia wood is highly valued and prized for its light silvery colour, fine grain and characteristic burls and ripples, which some have likened to flowing water. In Japan, Paulownia trees were traditionally planted after the birth of girls, and the mature wood used to make a dresser for their homes when they married.

Window shutters made from Paulownia wood can provide a range of benefits, from its lightweight and stable characteristics to its beautiful aesthetics and eco-friendly credentials:

Lightweight: Paulownia wood is incredibly light weight, making it easy to handle during manufacturing and installation. This can be particularly beneficial for larger window shutters, which can be heavy and difficult to manage when made from man made materials or heavier woods.

Stability: Paulownia wood is known for its stability, meaning that it is less likely to warp or shrink over time. This makes it an excellent choice for use in window shutters, which need to withstand changes in temperature.

Aesthetics: Paulownia wood has a beautiful, even grain pattern and a light, natural colour that can be stained or painted to match any home decor style. This makes it a versatile choice for window shutters that need to complement a range of interior design styles.

Sustainable: Paulownia wood is a fast-growing species that is sustainably harvested, making it an eco-friendly choice for those looking to minimize their impact on the environment.

Poplar is a dense and strong hardwood that is resistant to warping and cracking, making it an ideal material for shutters. This means that shutters made from Poplar wood are less likely to deteriorate over time due to exposure to moisture, temperature changes, and other environmental factors.

Aesthetically, Poplar wood has a fine, uniform texture and a straight grain that makes it easy to paint. This means that shutters made from poplar wood can be customised to match any interior or exterior design scheme.

Overall, Poplar wood's combination of durability and aesthetic appeal make it an excellent choice for manufacturing window shutters.

Your shutters can be operated using various control options

Central Tilt Rod

Regarded as providing the classic shutter look, a Central Tilt Rod is a vertical rod, located on the front of the shutter in the centre. The rod is what enables the louvres to move in unison.

Offset Tilt Rod

Like the Central Tilt Rod, but the vertical rod can be located to the left or right side of the shutter panel.

Half Hidden Tilt Rod

A discreet tilt rod is located at the rear of the shutter panel. To open and close the louvres, you adjust anyone louvre and all louvres attached to that rod will move together.

Invisitilt

With this control option the tilt mechanism is completely hidden within the stile of the shutter panel. To open and close the louvres, simply tilt any one of the louvres and all louvres attached to that mechanism will move together.
